Global Grain PAIN: An Overview and Outlook of Global Feed Grain

Wednesday,
February 24th, 2021

10:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m. PST

Via Zoom

Presented by

Brett Stuart
Founding Partner
Global AgriTrends

Sponsored by

The BC Council of Marketing Boards

About the Workshop

Global feed grain prices began rising in China last summer, even while corn prices in Brazil and the US were falling. That was the first signal that something was amiss in China.

This presentation will cover the current situation and an outlook of the global grain markets. China's 2018 discovery of African Swine Fever (ASF) in their herd led to massive culling. They are subsequently rebuilding on strong profits. But a key to deciphering the global grains markets lies in their ASF policies.

About our presenter

Brett Stuart is the President of Global AgriTrends. The firm was organized in 2006 and provides global market research, analysis and forecasting to a variety of clients around the world. He was formerly the lead economist for the U.S. Meat Export Federation. He has conducted numerous research and analysis projects in the global meat trade area as well as advising government representatives on international protein trade issues. Mr. Stuart has conducted on-the-ground agriculture industry research for a variety of clients on six continents.

Brett was raised on a cattle ranch operating in Utah and Wyoming and has previously worked as a controller in the agriculture industry.

He received an undergraduate degree in accounting at Utah State University and a Master of Business Administration degree from the University of Nebraska.

He and his wife Amanda live with their 5 kids on a farm near Preston, Idaho.
