About the Workshop

One of the single most important factors in the success of a non-profit organization is an effective relationship between the board and its staff, & board chair and ED/GM play critical roles in making that relationship work. In this workshop, we compare responsibilities of the board collectively, board members individually, the ED/GM, and other staff; some best practices to keep the relationship going smoothly, including the “no surprises” rule; and ensuring that both the board, and the executive director, receive meaningful performance evaluations and feedback.

About our presenter

Christopher Girdoat [pronounced JEE-row-dat] is a board governance consultant and meeting facilitator with over a decade of experience in board governance and operations management in the non-profit and retail sectors. When he's not consulting, he's the Executive Director of the Capilano Students' Union on the beautiful North Shore.
